DIES AS RESULT OF AN EXPLOSION

Sylvester Hilligoss Succumbs of Complications Arising From Injuries Received in Accident Years Ago.

WIFE DIED TWO WEEKS AGO

Mr. Hilligoss Was Born and Reared in Walker Township and Spent all of His Life There.

Sylvester Hilligoss, a pioneer resident of Walker township, died at his home near Manilla about one-thirty Sunday morning. His death was due to complications arising from injuries received in an explosion about one year ago. Mr. Hilligoss was blowing stumps on his farm with dynamite and was accidentally injured when a stick suddenly exploded. It was thought at the time that he would never recover from the injury.

Due to his old age the injury which he received at that time finally proved fatal. He has been in very poor health since the time of the accident and for several weeks he had not been expected to live. Although Mr. Hilligoss was not wounded in any place, he was so badly shocked and shaken up by the explosion that he never fully regained his good health again. His death is pronounced by the attending physicians to be indirectly caused by the shock from the explosion.

Mrs. Hilligoss, wife of Mr. Hilligoss, died at Richmond, where she was an inmate in the Eastern Indiana hospital for the insane, April 30. She had been an inmate of that institution for several years. At the time of Mrs. Hilligoss' death, Mr. Hilligoss was in a critical condition and it was feared then that it would be necessary to hold a double funeral. The shock caused by the death of Mrs. Hilligoss was very injurious to Mr. Hilligoss and may have hastened his death.

Mr. Hilligoss was born and reared in Walker township, where he spent his long life. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Hilligoss and was born April 18, 1834, and was 76 years and 27 days old. He spent all of his life on the farm and came to be a prosperous land owner.

He is survived by two sons, Cyrus and Fred Hilligoss, one brother, James Hilligoss and two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Veach and Mrs. Minerva Derringer, all of Walker township.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at the residence in Walker township at ten o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Jinnett of Manilla. The body will be buried in the Hurst cemetery.

SMALL CHILD IS DEAD

Ten-Months-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Coyne Expires.

William Robert Coyne, the nine months and twenty-eight-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Coyne of 526 North Jackson street, died Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock of double pneumonia. The infant had been ill only two weeks. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the Catholic church at two-thirty o'clock, conducted by the Rev. W. J. Cronin. Burial in the Catholic cemetery. The parents, three brothers and three sisters survive.

SHRINERS ATTEND TODAY

Several Shriners journeyed to Indianapolis today to attend the dedication ceremonies of the new Shriners' temple in the new Murat theater building. They were expecting an enjoyable time as a good program was prepared aside from an elaborate banquet.

FIENDS' INFEST CITY ON SUNDAY

In the Meantime Local Motorcyclists Journey to Other Towns and Worry Residents.

MEASURES TO STOP SPEEDING

Motorcyclists virtually swarmed through Rushville yesterday, many of them in parties of ten and twenty, from surrounding cities. The large majority of riders were from Indianapolis, and were here on their way to Connersville and other near-by cities. Many of them continue to ride through the city at a terrific rate of speed and endanger the lives of pedestrians.

Many cities have taken up measures to stop the speeding of motorcycles through their streets on Sunday. It has been the custom, and it growing more all the time, for parties to ride out from Indianapolis on Sunday and speed their machines through small towns.

Local motorcyclist were out in full force yesterday and were probably worrying the residents of other cities in the same manner that visitors infested Rushville. It is surprising the number of motorcycles are owned in this city. A large number have been sold here this spring and many others would be sold if—that is to say they have the fever.

WILL GIVE UP OLD FASHIONED AUTO

Colorado Paper Had Article Concerning Dr. W. W. Arnold Who Formerly Lived Here.

LIKENESS OF HIS IN HIS AUTO

A recent issue of the Colorado Springs, (Colo.) Gazette contained an excellent likeness of Dr. W. W. Arnold, formerly of Rushville, who is well known to the Shelby county residents of the eastern part of the county, says the Shelbyville Democrat. The cut represents Dr. Arnold in an Olds auto, while by his side was his faithful canine.

The automobile depicted was the old-fashioned lever car, and the article stated that the physician had determined on purchasing a new car after having driven the "one-hoss shay of the twentieth century" for a distance that would be several times around the earth.

The Colorado paper stated that this auto was the first one brought to Colorado Springs, and it gave clever paraphrasing of Oliver Wendell Holmes' famous "One Hoss Shay." The article paid a compliment to the skill and kindness of Dr. Arnold.

Dr. Arnold has lived in the western State some ten or eleven years, and his many friends in this and Rush county will be glad to hear of him, even though indirectly.

DISMISSED ON EVE OF HEARING

Breach of Promise Suit Filed by Indianapolis Woman Against O. D. Emory is Compromised.

TO HAVE BEEN HEARD TODAY

Case of State vs. O'Neil & Barrett For Liquor Law Violation to Come up Tomorrow.

A breach of promise suit, the hearing of which promised to be rich, rare and "racy," which was to come up in the circuit court today was dismissed on the eve of the day for the trial. Miss Daisy Pownor of Indianapolis filed such a suit in the circuit court against O. D. Emory a few months ago, demanding five thousand dollars damages. Her allegations were very startling and the evidence in the trial would probably have attracted a curious crowd to the court room.

But on the very day that the hearing was to be had, a compromise was effected between the two principals in the case and it was dismissed. It is said that the plaintiff offered to compromise for fifty dollars shortly after the complaint was filed. Smith, Cambern & Smith, attorneys for the defendant say that Emory paid the plaintiff's attorneys fees and that she herself received nothing.

The case of the State against O'Neil & Barrett charged with liquor law violation is set for hearing tomorrow. They were arrested on an indictment returned by the last grand jury. The charge is similar to the one against August Roth, in whose case the jury disagreed last week. The case was based on a technicality as to whether or not "dry" beer was a malt liquor.

The case of the Building Association No. 10 against George H. Ruhlman on a mortgage was dismissed by the plaintiff and the costs were paid.

The suit of Alma P. Ertle against John P. Ertle et al. to enforce a lien and for a receiver was dismissed by the plaintiff at the plaintiff's costs.

The court today ordered the prosecutor to appear in the case of Alva Newsom vs. Musa C. Newsom for a divorce, after the defendant had failed to appear. The case will be heard Wednesday.

RECITAL IS POSTPONED

Pierce Entertainment Called off Because Musician Lost Piano.

The recital which was to have been given by Oliver Willard Pierce of the Indianapolis Conservatory of Music under the auspices of the Ladies Musicales in the corridors of the court house tonight, has been postponed for a few days. The reason given for the postponement is the fact that Mr. Pierce lost his piano.

LOCAL PEOPLE GO FOR CONVENTION

Big Crowd From Here Went to Richmond Sunday on Excursion to Attend Annual Affair.

CATHOLICS PUT IN A BUSY DAY

Celebrate the Golden Anniversary of St. Joseph's Benevolent Society of That City.

About one hundred and fifty tickets were sold from here yesterday on the excursion to Richmond for the annual convention of St. Joseph's Staats-Verbund of Indiana. A dispatch from Richmond in the Indianapolis News this afternoon says of the convention:

The seventeenth annual convention of St. Joseph's Staats-Verbund of Indiana began here Sunday morning and will continue until tomorrow evening. The State gathering was preceded yesterday by the celebration of the golden anniversary of St. Joseph's Benevolent Society of this city.

Members of the Staats-Verbund from all parts of Indiana and other Catholic societies from both Indiana and Ohio invaded Richmond by the thousands. Weather conditions were almost perfect and the city was in gala dress for the occasion. Business and residence sections were decorated with flags and bunting and with the colors of the Staats-Verbund, white and yellow.

Members of the local Catholic societies met the incoming delegations during the forenoon and with bands of music escorted them to the Westcott hotel, convention headquarters. At 10 o'clock the visiting delegations were welcomed at the assembly hall of the local society by Casper Jelly, president of the golden jubilee committee and by Mayor W. W. Zimmerman. Solemn high mass followed at St. Andrews Catholic church, and the sermon was preached by the Rev. George Heldman of Rensselaer college. At noon military mass was celebrated for the various societies of uniform knights.

The parade yesterday afternoon was the day's biggest event and was participated in by thirty-five Catholic organizations, in addition to the delegates to the Staats-Verbund and hundreds of visiting Catholics, not members of the marching societies. More than three thousand men were in line. Several floats of beautiful design, representing various features of the work of the societies were in the parade. Twelve special trains from various parts of Indiana and Ohio, in addition to the regular trains and the interurban lines, brought the visitors to the city, and there were fully eight thousand strangers in the city during the day. Following the parade a solemn vesper service took place at St. Andrew's church and there was an address by the Rev. H. J. Hillebrand of Evansville.

The golden jubilee banquet was held in the Pythian temple last night, covers being laid for four hundred.

The opening session of the convention of the Staats-Verbund this forenoon was attended by several hundred members in addition to the regular delegates.

BACK FROM ABROAD.

Nolle Oster, who has been in England for several months, has arrived here. It was reported here that Mr. Oster was injured in a railway accident last winter, but the rumor proved to be false.

The first sleep is the soundest—after the first hour the intensity of sleep slowly diminishes—hence the value of forty winks after dinner in quickly recuperating shattered powers.

POWDER TEST SUCCESSFUL

Gun Shoot Given by Dr. Bell at St. Paul Well Attended.

The gun shoot given at St. Paul Friday by Dr. J. W. Bell, for the purpose of testing and demonstrating the new smokeless powder, the formula of which he is the discoverer, and for the manufacture of which a company is being formed, was well attended by about twenty-five shooters and a good time is reported and also that the test proved satisfactory, showing the powder to be of great power and clean.

REMEMBERS LOCAL MAN IN HIS WILL

J. M. Stevens is Made One of the Heirs to the Property of Marshall Grover of Greensburg.

WHO DIED ONE DAY RECENTLY

Marshall Grover, a prominent citizen of Greensburg, who died one day last week, remembers his nephew J. M. Stevens of this city in his will. The document was filed in the Decatur circuit court Saturday. It provides the rents from Elks building and such other property as they may have and the dividends on bank stock held by them be divided equally between eight nieces and nephews, of which number J. M. Stevens of this is one.

When the trustee thinks it proper to sell these properties the proceeds from such sale are to be divided equally among the foregoing named persons.

Mr. Grover placed his property in many different channels, some of his money being bequeathed to a Missouri college, another amount set aside to build a chapel and vault in the Greensburg cemetery and the remainder is divided among his relatives.

BUT SATURDAY THE 14TH WAS UNLUCKY

Alonzo Glore Goes Back to Shelbyville Only to be Arrested on the Charge of Intoxication.

THE POLICE ARE TIRED OF HIM

It seems utterly impossible of Alonzo Glore to keep out of trouble—and out of jail, said the Shelbyville News this morning. His name, on account of his recent actions, is becoming a by-word in police circles, and although he is now an inmate of the Shelby county jail, where he was placed Saturday evening shortly after his arrival in this city from New Castle, where he had spent a few days in jail, not a single one of the members of the local police force will admit that they had anything to do with his incarceration. They are tired of Glore and would be pleased if he would hunt other pastures.

Glore, not many months ago, married a Rushville girl and then deserted her after a few months' residence in this city. Later they patched up their differences and he was subsequently hustled to New Castle for a stay in the jail at that place. In the meantime he had figured in a number of other escapades and now he will be called upon to answer to a charge of intoxication today before Squire Pryor.

IT WAS NO PLACE FOR A CONSTABLE

Manilla Officer is Ordered off Jacob Stiers Place When he Attempts to Attach Goods.

CALLED FOR HELP, NONE CAME

Isaac Murdock Files Suit For the Possession of His Property in Stiers Home.

There was excitement in plenty for residents of Manilla Thursday afternoon, says the Shelbyville Democrat, when Constable John Rice attempted to enter the Jacob Stiers home to attach household goods belonging to Mrs. Isaac Murdock who has been keeping house for Mr. Stiers since her separation from her husband. The constable was promptly ordered off the premises by Mr. Stiers and told that he would have a fight on his hands, if he returned.

The constable sent out a hasty call for volunteers to go with him to the Stiers home, but no one offered to render the required assistance. The constable was in a quandary as to what he ought to do, but finally decided to let the matter rest until after the trial before 'Squire James Smart next Wednesday, of replevin proceedings instituted by Mr. Murdock.

Mr. and Mrs. Murdock formerly resided at Waldron and are quite well known in the southern part of the county. While they were residing in "old Shelby" Mr. Murdock was employed at the B. C. Coy store in Waldron. He later resigned his position there and he and his wife moved to Manilla where he has since been employed in the Manilla Grocery company's store.

The couple separated a little over a year ago and Mrs. Murdock subsequently went to keep house for Mr. Stiers, taking with her the greater part of the household goods from her own home. Mr. Murdock claims that a part of the goods is rightfully his and his suit before 'Squire Smart is for the purpose of obtaining possession of these goods.

Following Mr. and Mrs. Murdock's separation Mrs. Murdock filed suit for support in the Rush circuit court but the case never came to trial. A complaint for divorce was later filed by Mr. Murdock, who alleged, among other things that his wife had on several occasions attempted to kill him. The divorce was granted by Judge Sparks only a few days ago.

DR. B. C. HYDE GETS A LIFE SENTENCE

Kansas City Physician is Convicted of Murder of Thomas Swope, the Millionaire.

JURORS TOOK MANY BALLOTS

(Special to Daily Republican) Kansas City, May 16.—Dr. B. C. Hyde must serve the rest of his life in prison for causing the death of Colonel Thomas Swope, Kansas City's millionaire philanthropist. The jury returned a verdict of first degree at 10:30 this morning after having been out since Friday night. Many ballots were taken by the twelve men and it looked early today as if a disagreement were certain. The case has attracted wide attention.

The salary of lieutenant-general of the United States army is $11,000.

Treating The Wrong Disease

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality they are all only symptoms caused by some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system.

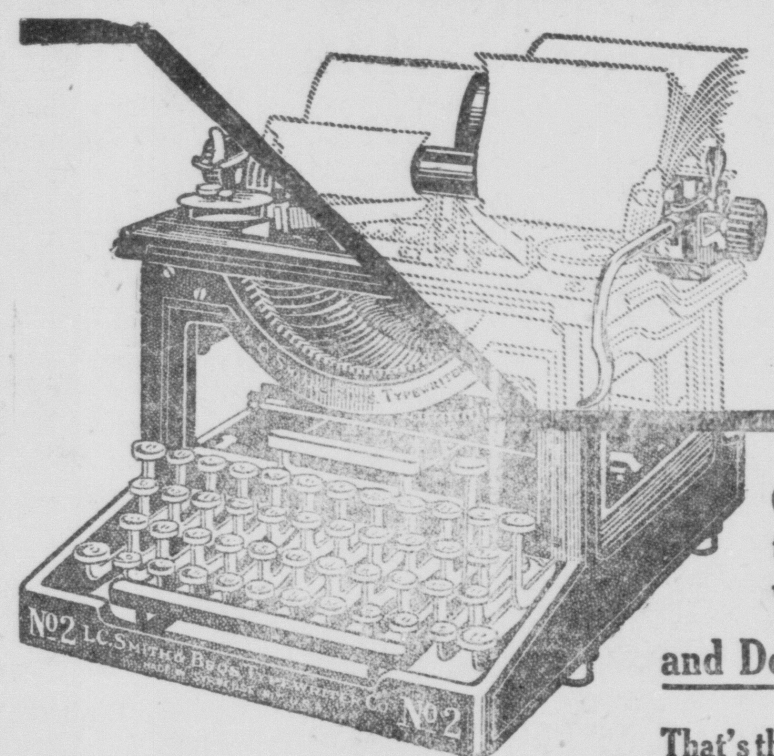

It is made of native American medicinal roots without the use of alcohol and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the distinctly feminine organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

EVERY WOMAN ought to possess Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only; or send 31 stamps for a handsome cloth-bound copy. Address the publishers, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOPING TO PUSH THINGS ALONG

Leaders in Congress Preparing For Adjournment.

ON OR ABOUT FIRST OF JULY

It is Now the Expectation That, With the Holding of Night Sessions, the Legislative Program Can Be Completed and Congress Be Ready to Adjourn Before Sizzling Summer Days Make Life in Washington a Burden.

Washington, May 16.—Unless difficulties now unforeseen present themselves, senate and house leaders believe that congress will adjourn on or about July 1. With a view to expediting business, it is the purpose soon to hold night sessions. They are hoping that the mercury in the Washington thermometer will begin to climb within a few days. With night sessions, hot weather and members desiring to get back with the home folks, no doubt is expressed that the lawmakers will be ready to quit certainly by July 1 and possibly the last week in June. After the railroad bill has been passed by the senate that body will get down to the consideration of appropriation bills.

A date will be fixed this week for a Republican house caucus on the postal savings bank bill. A compromise is about to be reached on this measure that it is expected will prove satisfactory in the main to the great majority of house Republicans. Up to date not a single administration bill of the first importance has been passed by the two houses of congress. The house has passed two conservation bills, one authorizing the president to withdraw lands in his discretion and the other authorizing agricultural entries on the surface of lands bearing coal. The house also has passed the railroad bill. It has taken no action on the postal savings bank bill, which will, however, soon be reached. It has also put through the statehood bill.

All of the administration measures that have not been passed have been sent to committees in the respective houses. The anti-injunction bill will follow the postal savings bank bill in the house. This bill appears to have few friends in either house, and if it is passed it will only be after constant urging of the president. This bill also may be considered at a caucus of the house Republicans.

A conference of house and senate leaders will be held this week in an effort to fix up a comprehensive program under which the various administration bills shall be hastened to conference. As things now stand the administration insists upon the passage of only five bills, namely, the railroad bill, the postal savings bank bill, the anti-injunction measure, the withdrawal bill and the statehood bill. The belief is general that compromises will come out of conferences on the railroad and postal savings bank, and the anti-injunction measure will pass substantially as it has been reported by the house committee on judiciary. No effort will be made to pass general conservation legislation at this time. The administration has lost hope of getting any enactment along this line aside from a bill authorizing the president to withdraw for purposes of conservation water-power sites, coal, oil and forest land, embraced in the public domain. The present political situation augurs ill for the statehood bill.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

NEW LIGHT ON SITUATION.

(New Castle Courier.)

The name of Walter S. Chambers of this city will be presented to the Democratic district convention at Richmond on May 25. Chambers has been a candidate in one sense of the word for some weeks, but not until today has he authorized a statement. Then he merely said, "I am a candidate for the congressional nomination and my name will go before the convention."

Thomas H. Kuhn, the preacher politician of Richmond, is a candidate, so is Lon Mull of Rush county. Finley H. Gray of Fayette county wants the empty honor also, and a gentleman named Fettner of Brookville is afflicted with "congressitis."

The individual strength of these candidates cannot be determined yet, but one who is close to the Democratic inner circles of the district, ventured the assertion today that there would be some fun at the convention. It is very likely that the local delegation will be instructed to cast its entire strength for Chambers. If that is the case, the dope is that the New Castle man will control the situation.

A New Castle man has recently returned from a trip to all the counties in the district and according to his interpretation of the feeling existing, Chambers will be given considerable strength by each county.

If Chambers should receive the nomination, New Castle would be in the political spotlight with both feet—having the congressional opponents for the same palce, from the same district and the same city.

Petition for Improvement of Highway in Ripley Township.

The undersigned, resident freeholders and voters of Ripley Township, in Rush County, State of Indiana, would respectfully petition your Honorability to improve, by grading and paving with good sharp gravel to a width of the road as now laid out, the following described road, to-wit:

Commencing at a point on the north line of the northeast quarter (¼) of section twenty-five (25), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east, where the highway leading south on the east side of Big Blue River connects with the free turnpike, known as the Cartilage and Walnut Ridge Turnpike, which turnpike runs east and along the north sides of sections twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26) and twenty-seven (27), all in township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east; thence in a general southwesterly direction across the northeast quarter (¼) of said section twenty-five (25), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east, to a point about the center of said section twenty-five (25), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east; thence west along the line dividing the northwest and southwest quarters of said section twenty-five (25), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east, to where said highway enters the southeast quarter of section twenty-six (26), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east; thence in a southwesterly direction across the southeast quarter of said section twenty-six (26), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east, to the south line of said section twenty-six (26); thence in a southwesterly direction across the northeast quarter (¼) and the southwest quarter (¼) of section thirty-five (35), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east, to where said highway enters the southwest quarter (¼) of section thirty-five (35), township fifteen (15) north, range eight (8) east; thence south about one hundred and twenty (120) rods on the west line of the southwest quarter (¼) of said section thirty-five (35), township and range aforesaid, to where said highway terminates at the southwest corner of the southwest quarter (¼) of said section thirty-five (35), township and range aforesaid, and on the line dividing Ripley and Posey Townships, both in Rush County, in the State of Indiana.

Said highway commences at a free turnpike on the north end and terminates on the line dividing two civil townships on the south end, and is less than three miles in length.

That a United States rural mail route passes over said above described road.

Wives In Thousands

The problem of domestic isolation is about to be solved in a large part of the provinces of northwestern Canada, says the Kansas City Journal. The Woman's Guild of Montreal has made arrangements with two lines of steamers plying between that port and England for the passage of four thousand domestic servants to be brought over this summer. The officers of the guild announce that applications have already been made for the services of every one of these domestic servants, and that the demand is so great that they could place twice the number already engaged. Most of these four thousand servants will be sent to the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta. And as most of them are women, it is probable that they will be quickly snapped up as wives by the desperately lonely farmers of the northwest. Thus history will repeat itself and the scenes enacted in Virginia and the other colonies in the early days of the settlement of this country will be reenacted in western Canada.

To any one who has experienced the depressing isolation of the tremendous distances of the silent places of this region there will appear no anomaly in the question of the Canadian farmers marrying their domestic servants. Under such depressing conditions the only question that presents itself is the biblical one—that a virtuous wife is more precious than jewels. No social problems of caste will vex the minds of these lonely pioneers of the northwest. They understand perfectly that they do not promptly avail themselves of the opportunity to secure a wife some other farmer will quickly deprive them of their services by making an offer of marriage. And they also understand the curious trait in womankind which leads virtually every member of the feminine sex to prefer to work for a man all her life without pay in the coin of the realm provided the magic ring ceremony encircles her third finger.

THE PRESIDENT TO THE RESCUE

Why the Lawler Memorandum Was Prepared.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S REQUEST

Being Pressed For Time, Mr. Taft Had Requested Lawler to Prepare an Opinion, "As if He Were President," a Portion of Which Opinion Was Used in the President's Letter Exonerating Secretary Ballinger.

Washington, May 16.—For the Lawler memorandum in the Ballinger-Pinchot case and also for the predating of the Wickersham opinion, President Taft has publicly assumed all responsibility. These are the two features of the Ballinger-Pinchot case against which the enemies of the Taft administration have now trained their guns. The president admits frankly that he requested Assistant Attorney General Lawler of the interior department to write and prepare "an opinion as if he were president."

The president acknowledges also that he used some sentences of this opinion in his letter exonerating Secretary Ballinger. With equal frankness the president says that Wickersham's analysis of the evidence in the case was predicated under his (the president's) direction, so as to show that "my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom."

The president makes it clear, however, that he carefully reviewed all the documents and evidence in the Ballinger-Pinchot case and had reached an absolute decision that Mr. Ballinger was guiltless before he instructed Lawler, of Ballinger's office, to prepare a letter to be used as the basis of the Taft exoneration. The president declares that he adopted this course merely as a means of saving time for himself, as he was rushed with work and he had indicated clearly to Lawler what he wished contained in the letter. This Lawler document, however, was unsatisfactory to Mr. Taft, and he finally dictated his own letter, using only a few sentences of the Lawler memo.

Mr. Taft's Formal Statement.

The letter to Senator Nelson, chairman of the investigating committee, was given out at the White House. Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary of War Dickinson and Secretary Nagel were in conference with the president during the preparation of the statement.

The president's statement is as follows: "My Dear Senator Nelson—In the hearings before the committee to investigate the interior department and forestry service reference has been made to my decision on the complaint and charges of L. R. Glavis filed with me on the 18th of August last, against Secretary Ballinger and certain other officials of the interior department. The majority of the committee have decided that my action in this regard was not within the jurisdiction of the committee to investigate. In spite of this ruling, references to the matter have crept into the record. For this reason I deem it proper to write you and state with such accuracy as my memory permits what the facts are:

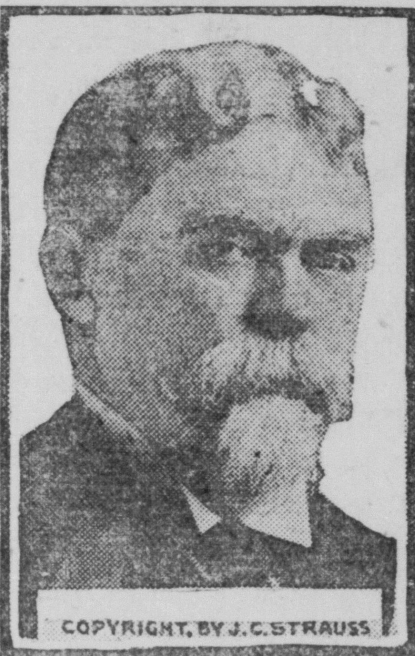

"Glavis's statement and charges were left with me by him on Aug. 18, 1909. I turned them over to the attorney general, who happened to be in the neighborhood, and he made notes on his reading. We both had personal knowledge in respect to Secretary Ballinger's attitude toward the Alaska coal claims, which was the chief subject of inuendo in the complaint, for Mr. Ballinger had very early in the administration consulted us both in regard to them.

"Within two or three days after the filing of the charges, in a meeting at which the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general and the secretary of the navy were present, a full discussion of the Glavis statement was had. It resulted in a general conclusion that jealousy between the bureaus of the interior and the forest bureau probably explained the attitude of the interior department officials, but that the intimations of bad faith by Glavis against Mr. Ballinger and the others required that the statement be submitted to them for answer. Accordingly, copies of the statement were sent to Secretary Ballinger, to Assistant Secretary Pierce, to Commissioner Dennett and Chief of Field Service Schwartz.

"Mr. Ballinger was at Seattle, but upon receipt of the charges he came to Washington to prepare his answer. On Monday, Sept. 6, Mr. Ballinger reached Beverly, accompanied by Mr. Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the department of justice, assigned to the interior department. Mr. Ballinger sent to my house on that date the answers of the various persons concerned, together with a voluminous record of exhibits. I had a conference with him the evening of the day he came, September 6th, and then upon the following evening, September 7th, I talked over the charges with Mr. Ballinger the first evening, and asked such questions as suggested themselves without intimating any conclusion, and said that I would examine the answers and the record and would see him the next day. I sat up until 3 o'clock that night reading the answers and exhibits; so that at my next conference I was advised of the contents of the entire record and had made up my mind that there was nothing in the charges upon which Mr. Ballinger or the others accused could be found guilty either of incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty to the interests of the government, or dishonesty.

"In the discussions of the second evening Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was very anxious to write a full statement of the case and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day; that I had some six or seven set speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were president.

"During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record as was consistent with previous engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 9th I telegraphed the attorney general to come to Beverly in order that I might confer with him on the case. He arrived there Saturday, Sept. 11th and, pursuant to an appointment made by telephone, he came to my house early on Sunday morning, Sept. 12th. He then delivered to me the draft opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answer of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up my mind as to my conclusions and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring me his conclusions before I stated mine. He took the whole record away.

"During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished it stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticism of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

"The attorney general returned in the evening with notes of the examination he had made and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly some points of law which were involved, and took up the opinions which I had finished, and made a number of alterations; and as the result of the discussion I determined the final form which I employed and signed the same on Monday, Sept. 13th.

"The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the attorney general gave me, using the notes which he had made during his reading of the record. I was very sorry not to be able to embody an analysis in my opinion, but time did not permit. I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it with the record, and date it prior to the date of my opinion, so as to show that my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and its conclusions therefrom.

"Sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

The Horse's Prayer

To thee, my master, I offer my prayer: Feed me, water me and care for me, and when the day's work is done provide me with shelter, a clean, dry bed and a stall wide enough for me to lie down in comfort, says Our Dumb Animals.

Always be kind to me. Talk to me. Your voice often means as much to me as the reins. Pet me sometimes, that I may serve you the more gladly, and do not whip me when I do not understand what you want, but give me a chance to understand you. Watch me, and if I fail to do your bidding, see if something is not wrong with my harness or feet.

Do not check me so that I cannot have the free use of my head. If you insist that I wear blinders so that I cannot see behind me as it was intended, I should pray you be careful that the blinders stand well out from my eyes.

Do not overload me or hitch me where water will drip on me. Keep me well shod. Examine my teeth when I do not eat; I may have an ulcerated tooth, which you know is very painful. Do not tie my head in an unnatural position or take away my best defense against flies and mosquitoes by cutting off my tail.

I cannot tell you when I am thirsty, so give me clean, cool water often. Save me, by all means in your power, from that fatal disease—the glanders. I cannot tell you in words when I am sick, so watch me, that by signs you may know my condition. Give me all possible shelter from the hot sun and put a blanket on me, not when I am working, but when I am standing in the cold. Never put a frosty bit in my mouth; first warm it by holding it a moment in your hands.

I try to carry you and your burdens without a murmur, and wait patiently for you long hours of the day and night. Without the power to choose my shoes or path, I sometimes fall on the hard pavements, which I have often prayed might not be of wood, but of such a nature as to give me a safe and sure footing. Remember that I must be ready to at any moment lose my life in your service.

And finally, O my master, when my useful strength is gone, do not turn me out to starve or freeze, or sell me to some cruel owner, to be slowly tortured and starved to death, but do thou, my master, take my life in the kindest way and your God will reward you here and hereafter. You will not consider me irreverent if I ask this in the name of Him who was born in a stable. Amen.

Smoker Wade at Ninety

John H. Morris, the ninety-year-old river farmer of Morrisville, Pa., tells how to live to a ripe old age. Mr. Morris, who is well known to hundreds of residents of the county, has been a constant user of tobacco since he was ten years old. Now, however, he confines himself to his clay pipe, although he formerly was a tobacco chewer of no small proportion.

In his young days Morris was regarded as a sickly child and required the attention of a physician quite frequently, but he has reached the ripe old age of ninety years and is sturdy and nimble. He had a long, flowing white beard and says he keeps his joints in good working order by bathing himself in olive oil, thing he has done for years.

The frequent bathing of his feet is also given as one of the reasons he has witnessed the advent and departure of so many years. A favorite method of Mr. Morris for cleansing his feet is to wade in the water. This he does in the summer and winter and not infrequently when the ice is so thick it is necessary for him first to break it. He is a great lover of buttermilk and in seasons eats generously of asparagus.

Whiskey is something that Mr. Morris has never had any use for.

Old Spellers Surpassed

According to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Robert J. Ale, those stories about the old-time spellers of twenty and thirty years ago being the best is all buncombe—and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction ought to know, if any one knows.

Mr. Ale is one of, if not the best man who has graced this State office in years. He is a hard worker, and it is quite certain that he will raise the standard of our school system and bring about many improvements in it.

Mr. Ale is very much occupied just at the present time with commencing all over the State, and himself and wife are endeavoring to be present at as many of them as possible to lend every encouragement in the work.

In his recent address before the Sharpville graduates, Mr. Ale takes a very decided stand for the scholar of today as compared with the scholar of ten, twenty and thirty years ago. He states that we possess not only as good, but much better spellers among our school pupils today than the much-heard-of old-time spellers. He has the proof of this in the late spelling contests recently held over the State. He cites as an example the contest at Fort Wayne recently, in which high school students withstood a torrent of words for eight hours, a feat that has never before been equalled. And he also says that we have more of them, too, than they did of old. He asks the old-timer to look back and see if he can not remember that as a rule there was about one good speller to the community, and in a contest with another community, if the two didn't have the floor after a few minutes.

He also cites that a list of examination questions for eighth grade pupils were recently unearthed at a Springfield, Illinois, building which were used twenty-five and thirty years ago, and with them the respective grades of some of the pupils of that time who passed the examination. He says that Springfield was at that time one of the best schools in the entire country.

As an experiment, these questions were given to our present day eighth grade pupils, and the result was that the grades ran from twelve and one-half to twenty-five per cent higher. This, Mr. Ale says, is quite sufficient to prove that we have better scholars today than ten and twenty years ago, which he says speaks well for our present school system.

The water troughs on the court house corners are a great boon to the dumb animals and birds. It is surprising to watch the number of birds that slake their thirst at these troughs during the day, especially the one opposite the Republican office. All this proves that drinking conveniences for our dumb animals are a necessity. A Chicago authority has issued a statement in which he claims that many of the "mad dog" scares in warm weather are due to the fact that the dogs are thirsty—that they grow frantic from thirst and run madly around seeking water. By providing drinking places many of these episodes might be avoided and it would also be a humane act. The birds ought to be cared for, too, by providing water in some manner. Upon this finding and report, a philanthropist has come forward in Chicago and provided a thousand basins of two quarts each and will place them all over the city in front of the home or places of business of persons who will keep them filled with water. In the absence of such a party the people of every city should take up the work of providing water for the dumb animals that live among us.

It's About Time.

"For a number of weeks past we have been expending our brain power in these columns for scant remuneration," says the Monroe Spectator. "The condition of our purse is now such that hereafter we must extract pay from all those who would be mentioned in our brain-storm efforts. For the guidance of prospective patrons we have established the following schedule of prices: For announcing to the public that a man is a successful citizen, when everyone knows he is as lazy as a government mule, $2.13; telling that a man is a trustworthy citizen, when no one in town would trust him out of sight, and if he had his just deserts he would now be serving in the pen, $8.11; for saying that he is a desirable citizen when everyone would be tickled to death to have him leave the burg, $4.25; referring to a deceased citizen as one who is mourned by the entire community, when he will be missed only by a poker circle, $10.15; sending a doughty sinner to heaven, $5; calling an ordinary pulpit pounder an eminent divine, 63 cents; calling a bride an accomplished and beautiful young lady, when it is a known fact that she is as illiterate as a pig, cross-eyed, face covered with freckles, and leaves the aroma of one who is a stranger to the bath-tub, $13.30; referring to some galavanting female as an estimable lady, whom it is a pleasure to meet, when every business man in town would rather see the devil coming, (???)"

Law of Economics Demands Combinations.

By Judge PETER S. GROSSCUP of Chicago.

T HE Sherman act was passed, and nearly twenty years have gone. We have had a campaign of nineteen years, state and national, and we have got to this situation—that as a matter of form the enterprise of this country cannot consolidate legally or lawfully either through a trustee or through a company known as a holding company; but, as a matter of fact, the TENDENCY OF CONSOLIDATION IS JUST AS STRONG, THE ARGUMENTS IN ITS FAVOR ARE JUST AS FORCEFUL, as they were then.

The twenty years have NOT TURNED BACK ECONOMIC LAWS; twenty years have not turned back the tendencies of the times; twenty years have not undone those influences that have made civilization so close that MEN MUST UNITE THEIR STRENGTH IN A SINGLE EFFORT IN SOME OF THE DEPARTMENTS OF INDUSTRY.

Why this combination? A combination, after all, shorn of its evils is simply the gathering together of that strength of men in union that they may DO MORE EFFECTUALLY BY UNITED STRENGTH WHAT THEY CANNOT DO SO WELL SEPARATELY AND APART.

IT CUTS OUT WASTE, IT CUTS DOWN EXPENSE, IT IS THE LAW OF ECONOMICS, AND WE MIGHT AS WELL PASS STATUTES AGAINST IT HOPING THAT NO WAY WOULD BE FOUND TO EVADE THOSE STATUTES AS WE MIGHT PASS STATUTES AGAINST THE SOLAR SYSTEM AND THE LAWS THAT CONTROL THE SOLAR SYSTEM, FOR, AFTER ALL, MEN ARE THE CREATURES OF NATURE. NATURE MAKES LAW, AND THE FIRST LAW, THE FUNDAMENTAL LAW, IS THE LAW OF NATURE.

My position, therefore, is that we have had twenty years of a campaign against form and not against SUBSTANCE; that the substance of things is as it was when that twenty years began, only that it has been accentuated and intensified.

Can Rob Their Husbands

Wives can now rob their husbands, with impunity, or by any other means that they wish to employ, provided conditions are right, according to a Chicago special, as follows:

Yesterday a man appeared before the judge and said that his wife had robbed him during the night of $11. Judge Gemmill called the woman before him, heard her story, and told her to go and sin some more and to become an example to all her sisters who have husbands professing chronic impecuniosity.

Gustave H. de Kolkey, a teamster, was brimming over with indignation when court opened.

"My wife robbed me right in my own home!"

"Horrible!" admitted bailiffs and spectators.

"She got a boarder and her brother to hold me up. Then she went through my pockets and got $11."

Mrs. de Kolkey was led up in front of the court's desk.

"Did you rob him?"

"Yes, I did," she said. "There was no other way to get money out of him. He hasn't given me a cent for over a year. He has been making good money but he drinks it all up. Last night he came home drunk. For some reason or other he had some money left."

"So I decided to rob him. I called my son-in-law and we held him and I got what was left. It was all right, wasn't it, judge?"

His honor agreed that it was.

"This is a plain case of robbery, but it was perfectly justifiable under the circumstances," said the court. "The defendant is discharged. A wife has the right to hold up her husband when he squanders his wages and does not give her enough for her support."

For several years the use of wheat flour has been increasing and the use of rye flour decreasing in Germany.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidney are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerves. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by F. E. Wolcott.

Realization Too Late

"Say," said one of a group of young men to a News representative yesterday, says the Connorsville News. "We got into a little trouble and have pulled but we don't want you to put our names in the paper. Of course we were—fools, but"—etc., etc.

This statement has a familiar sound. Every publisher has heard it, many, many times and will probably continue to hear it many times in the future. We are not disposed to question the statement of the young man who said himself and companions were foolish, for there is no folly much worse than a young man, endowed with reason and common sense, dethroning his reason with liquor. No more unpleasant duty falls to the lot of newspaper people than to refuse to shield the man who realizes when it is too late that he has been indiscreet. Hardened as he is to crime and debauchery, even the news writer has a sympathetic side to his nature but to exercise it in such instances and in many more that come to daily notice is to lay himself open to the charge of unfair discrimination, a thing that is not right either from a business or a moral standpoint. Under existing conditions in Connorsville a man cannot get intoxicated without committing a double offense. He must first hunt out illicit liquor to be used as a beverage and then commit an act that wrongs both himself and society.

The best advice that can be given to the young man who finds himself in this trouble is, to use a slang expression, to "cut it out" for it doesn't pay. For if he thinks he has a right to get intoxicated when he pleases, then the public has the right to know it.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace management offers a good program tonight in the film, "The Three Witches," a Vitagraph subject. It is highly colored and is said to be very interesting. The picture shows some wonderful work in the art of photography and is a marvel within itself. Iva Brown will sing a new illustrated song.

"The Menesis," a drama of much merit will be shown at the Vaudet theater tonight. It is a story of real life. Two brothers seek the hand of the same girl. One of the young men is driven away from home by the father and is treated wrongfully. He returns later and is victorious in the battle for the bride. A new illustrated song is on the program.

The Star Grand offers tonight a western drama entitled "The Cowpuncher's Ward." This is one of the most vivid pictures of cowboy justice ever pictured on the motion picture screen. However, it is not overdrawn and the many tense and thrilling situations it embodies are not in the least exaggerated. It carries with it a note of appeal that will sink deep into every heart; its pathos is human. Earl Robertson will sing "Whistle and I'll Wait For You."

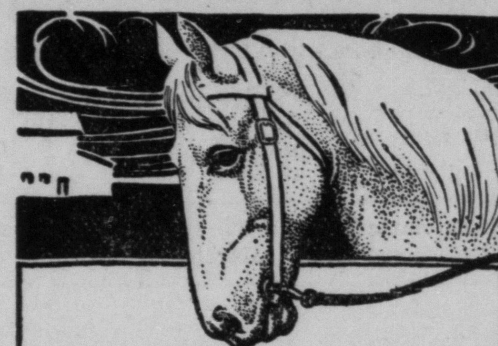

One quarter of the coal mined on the North American continent is used by its railways, the sixty thousand locomotives in the United States alone taking over one hundred millions tons each year.

An angry exclamation escaped Alicia's lips, and crushing the note up in her hand, she bit her lips till the blood came. It was just as she feared. The man was desperate. He was not to be got rid of so easily. How dare he—how dare he? The coward—to think that she could be frightened by such a threat. What did she care if he killed himself? It would be good riddance. Yet suppose he was in earnest, suppose he did carry out his threat? There would be a terrible scandal, an investigation, people would talk, her name would be mentioned. No—no—that must be prevented at all costs.

Distracted, not knowing what course to pursue, she paced the floor of the room. Through the closed door she could hear the music and the chatter of her guests. She must go to see Underwood at once, that was certain, and her visit must be a secret one. There was already enough talk.

If her enemies could hear of her visiting him alone in his apartments that would be the end.

"Yes—I must see him at once. Tomorrow is Sunday. He's sure to be home in the evening. He mentions Monday morning. There will still be time. I'll go and see him tomorrow."

"Alicia! Alicia!"

The door opened and Mr. Jeffries put his head in.

"What are you doing here, my dear?" he asked. "I was looking everywhere for you. Judge Brewster wishes to say good-night."

"I was fixing my hair, that's all," replied Alicia with perfect composure.

CHAPTER V.

Among the many huge caravansaries that of recent years have sprung up in New York to provide luxurious quarters regardless of cost for those

IF SICK--WHY PAY

Unless Health First Returns.

Here is what should and can be done. Now you would not willingly pay for food that was worthless—would you?

Then why pay for medicine until that medicine first proves to you its actual worth? Positively knowing what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do for the sick, I say to all "don't pay unless health first returns." And I back my Restorative with a signed and sealed 30 day "No help, No pay" contract.

I positively pledge to the sick everywhere that "Dr. Shoop's Restorative is absolutely free if it fails." Let others do the same—or else pass their prescriptions by.

If you need more strength, more vitality, more vigor or more vim, use my Restorative a few days and note the immediate improvement.

When the Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys go wrong, then test Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I do not do the Stomach nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys, for that is wrong. Years ago I saw a man with a mistaken idea in medicine. The books below will tell you how I am succeeding.

These books also tell of a tiny hidden "inside nerve," no larger than a silken thread. They tell how that nerve, until it fails, actually gives to the Heart its power, its tone, its never-ending action or impulse.

These books will open up new and helpful ideas to those who are not well. They tell how the Stomach and Kidneys each have their "inside nerve," and how the Restorative was especially made to reach and revitalize these weak or failing inside nerves. All of these facts tell why I am able to say, "It is free if it fails."

This is why I say "Take no chance on a medicine whose maker dare not back it just as I do by this remarkable offer."

So write me today for the order. I have appointed honest and responsible druggists in nearly every community to issue my medicines to the sick.

But write me first for the order. All druggists sell Dr. Shoop's Restorative, but all are not authorized to give the 30 day test.

So drop me a line please—and thus save disappointment and delays. Tell me also which book you need.

A postal will do. Besides, you are free to consult me as you would your home physician. My advice and the book below are yours—and without cost.

Perhaps a word or two from me will clear up some serious ailment. I have helped thousands upon thousands by my private prescription or personal advice plan. My best effort is surely worth your simple request. So write now while you have it fresh in mind, for tomorrow never comes. Dr. Shoop, Box 12, Racine, Wis.

who can afford to pay for the best, none could rival the Astruria in size and magnificence. Occupying an entire block in the very heart of the residential district, it took precedence over all the other apartment hotels of the metropolis as the biggest and most splendidly appointed hostelry of its kind in the world. It was, indeed, a small city in itself. It was not necessary for its fortunate tenants to leave it unless they were so minded. Everything for their comfort and pleasure was to be had without taking the trouble to go out of doors. On the ground floor were shops of all kinds, which catered only to the Astruria's patrons. There were also on the premises a bank, a broker's office, a hairdresser, and a postal telegraph office. A special feature was the garden court, containing over 30,000 square feet of open space, and tastefully laid out with palms and flowers. Here fountains splashed and an orchestra played while the patrons lounged on comfortable rattan chairs or gossiped with their friends. Up on the sixteenth floor was the cool roof garden, an exquisite bower of palms and roses artificially painted by a famous French artist, with its recherche restaurant, its picturesque tziganes, and its superb view of all Manhattan island.

The Astruria was the last word in expensive apartment hotel building. Architects declared that it was as far as modern lavishness and extravagance could go. Its interior arrangements were in keeping with its external splendor. Its apartments were of noble dimensions, richly decorated, and equipped with every device, new and old, that modern science and builders' ingenuity could suggest. That the rents were on a scale with the grandeur of the establishment goes without saying. Only long purses could stand the strain. It was a favorite headquarters for Westerners who had "struck it rich," wealthy bachelors, and successful actors and opera singers who loved the limelight on and off the stage.

Sunday evening was usually exceedingly quiet at the Astruria. Most of the tenants were out of town over the week-end, and as the restaurant and roof garden were only slimly patronized, the elevators ran less frequently, making less chatter and bustle in corridors and stairways. Stillness reigned everywhere as if the sobering influence of the Sabbath had invaded even this exclusive domain of the unholy rich. The uniformed attendants, having nothing to do, yawned lazily in the deserted halls. Some even indulged in surreptitious naps in corners, confident that they would not be disturbed. Callers were so rare that when some one did enter from the street, he was looked upon with suspicion.

It was shortly after seven o'clock the day following Mrs. Jeffries' reception when a man came in by the main entrance from Broadway, and approaching one of the hall boys, inquired for Mr. Robert Underwood.

The boy gave his interlocutor an impudent stare. There was something about the caller's dress and manner which told him instinctively that he was not dealing with a visitor whom he must treat respectfully. No one divines a man's or woman's social status quicker or more unerringly than a servant. The attendant saw at once that the man did not belong to the class which paid social visits to tenants in the Astruria. He was rather seedy looking, his collar was not immaculate, his boots were thick and clumsy, his clothes cheap and ill-fitting.

"Is Mr. Underwood in?" he demanded.

"Not home," replied the attendant insolently, after a pause. Like most hall boys, he took a savage pleasure in saying that the tenants were out.

The caller looked annoyed. "He must be in," he said with a frown. "I have an appointment with him."

This was not strictly true, but the bluff had the desired effect.

"Got an appointment? Why didn't you say so at once?"

Reaching lazily over the telephone switchboard, and without rising from his seat, he asked surlily:

"What's the name?"

"Mr. Bennington."

The boy took the transmitter and spoke into it:

"A party called to see Mr. Underwood."

There was a brief pause, as if the person upstairs was in doubt whether to admit that he was home or not. Then came the answer. The boy looked up.

"He says you should go up. Apartment 165. Take the elevator."

In his luxurious appointed rooms on the fourteenth floor, Robert Underwood sat before the fire puffing nervously at a strong cigar. All around him was a litter of objects d'art, such as would have filled the heart of any connoisseur with joy. Oil paintings in heavy gilt frames, of every period and school, Rembrandts, Cuypts, Ruysdaels, Reynoldses, Corots, Henners, some on easels, some resting on the floor; handsome French bronzes, dainty china on Japanese teakwood tables, antique furniture, gold embroidered clerical vestments, hand-painted screens, costly oriental rugs, rare ceramics—all were confusedly jumbled together. On a grand piano in a corner of the room stood two tall cloisonne vases of almost inestimable value. On a desk close by were piled miniatures and rare ivories. The walls were covered with tapestries, armor, and trophies of arms. More like a museum than a sitting room, it was the home of a man who made a business of art or made of art a business.

Underwood stared moodily at the glowing logs in the open chimney-place. His face was pale and determined. After coming in from the restaurant he had changed his tuxedo for the more comfortable house coat. Nothing called him away that particular Sunday evening, and no one was likely to disturb him. Ferris, his man servant, had taken his usual Sunday off and would not return until

COMFORTING WORDS

Many a Rushville Household Will Find Them So.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed; to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. To tell how this great change can be brought about will prove comforting words to hundreds of Rushville readers.

Mrs. Edward Green, Front & Warwick streets, Knightstown, Ind., says: "When I publicly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in the spring of 1907, I did so knowing that they lived up to all the claims made for them. A member of the family suffered greatly from backache and other symptoms of disordered kidneys. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention, a supply was produced and I must say that no remedy could have given greater satisfaction. A few days use of Doan's Kidney Pills convinced us of their curative powers and after the contents of two boxes had been taken, the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills at every opportunity and take pleasure in doing so."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

midnight. The apartment was still as the grave. It was so high above the street that not a sound reached up from the noisy Broadway below. Underwood liked the quiet so that he could think, and he was thinking hard. On the flat desk at his elbow stood a dainty demi-tasse of black coffee—untasted. There were glasses and decanters of whisky and cordial, but the stimulants did not tempt him.

He wondered if Alicia would ignore his letter or if she would come to him. Surely she could not be so heartless as to throw him over at such a moment. Crushed in his left hand was a copy of the New York Herald containing an elaborate account of the brilliant reception and musicale given the previous evening at her home. With an exclamation of impatience he rose from his seat, threw the paper from him, and began to pace the floor.

Was this the end of everything? Had he reached the end of his rope? He must pay the reckoning, if not today, to-morrow. As his eyes wandered around the room and he took mental inventory of each costly object, he experienced a sudden shock as he recalled the things that were missing. How could he explain their absence? The art dealers were already suspicious. They were not to be put off any longer with excuses. Any moment they might insist either on the immediate return of their property or on payment in full. He was in the position to do neither. The articles had been sold and the money lost gambling. Curse the luck! Everything had gone against him of late. The dealers would begin criminal proceedings, disgrace and prison stripes would follow. There was no way out of it. He had no one to whom he could turn in this crisis.

And now even Alicia had deserted him. This was the last straw. While he was still able to boast of the friendship and patronage of the aristocratic Mrs. Howard Jeffries he could still hold his head high in the world. No one would dare question his integrity, but now she had abandoned him to his fate, people would begin to talk. There was no use keeping up a hopeless fight—suicide was the only way out!

He stopped in front of a mirror, startled at what he saw there. It was the face of a man not yet 30, but apparently much older. The features were drawn and haggard, and his dark hair was plentifully streaked with gray. He looked like a man who had lived two lives in one. To-night his face frightened him. His eyes had a fixed stare like those of a man he had once seen in a madhouse. He wondered if men looked like that when they were about to be executed. Was not his own hour close at hand? He wondered why the clock was so noisy; it seemed to him that the ticks were louder than usual. He started suddenly and looked around fearfully. He thought he had heard a sound outside. He shuddered as he glared toward the little drawer on the right-hand side of his desk, in which he knew there was a loaded revolver.

If Alicia would only relent escape might yet be possible. If he did not hear from her it must be for to-night. One slight little pressure on the trigger and all would be over.

Suddenly the bell of the telephone connecting the apartment with the main hall downstairs rang violently. Interrupted thus abruptly in the midst of his reflections, Underwood jumped forward, startled. His nerves were so unstrung that he was ever apprehensive of danger. With a tremulous hand, he took hold of the receiver and placed it to his ear. As he listened, his already pallid face turned whiter and the lines about his mouth tightened. He hesitated a moment before replying. Then, with an effort, he said:

"Send him up."

Dropping the receiver, he began to walk nervously up and down the room. The crisis had come sooner than he expected—exposure was at hand. This man Bennington was the manager of the firm of dealers whose goods he disposed of. He could not make restitution. Prosecution was inevitable. Disgrace and prison would follow. He could not stand it; he would rather kill himself. Trouble was very close at hand, that was certain. How could he get out of it? Pacing the floor, he bit his lips till the blood came.

There was a sharp ring at the front door. Underwood opened it. As he recognized his visitor on the threshold, he exclaimed:

Tuberculosis Often Develops From Pneumonia

Consumption readily attacks those who have had pneumonia. Many sufferers from tuberculosis give a history of having had pneumonia. The lungs thus weakened are more easily attacked by the germs that cause consumption.

For all those with "weak lungs," especially those who have had pneumonia, Eckman's Alternative is the appropriate remedy. Cures of consumption are accomplished by Eckman's Alternative. But take it in time. There is no wisdom in waiting until tuberculosis is established. Health is never fully valued until sickness comes.

"I wish I had known of Eckman's Alternative two years ago. Since taking it I have gained twenty-eight pounds and I cannot but be very thankful to you and the Almighty God for the great blessing and change of health it has brought me." (Signed) Thomas Kelly.

123 Broadway, Camden, N. J.

Eckman's Alternative is good for all Throat and Lung troubles, and is on sale in Rushville at Lytle's Drug Store and other druggists. It can also be obtained at, or procured by, your local druggists. Ask for Booklet of Cured Cases or write for Evidence to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa.

REV. CHARLES F. AKED

Rockefeller Pastor, Who Is Ill With Typhoid Fever.

REV. C. F. AKED
UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

New York, May 16.—The Rev. Charles F. Aked, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, who is ill of typhoid fever at his home, 1 West Eighty-sixth street, is reported to be resting comfortably, with every prospect of recovery.

STRIKE FUND VOTED FOR STEEL WORKERS

The Amalgamated to Give Up Ten Percent of Wages.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 16.—Thousands of iron, steel and tin workers in the United States will contribute 10 per cent of their earnings to aid the cause of the strikers in the sheet and tin divisions and to build up a formidable defense fund in accordance with action of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, in national convention in Fort Wayne.

The decision came after debate as to the most desirable methods for accumulating the defense fund in accordance with the suggestions of the national officers earlier in the convention sessions, and the vote was for the levying of an assessment of 10 per cent of earnings of the workmen in all divisions of the association.

The assessment will go into effect at once and with a membership of about 10,000 men in the Amalgamated association the result will be a fund that will enable the association to carry its fight more vigorously to a successful conclusion.

NOW IN LONDON

Colonel Roosevelt Arrives as Special Ambassador to Funeral.

London, May 16.—Mr. Roosevelt arrived here at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He was previously met at Queensborough, where he landed from the continent, by the Earl of Dundonald representing King George, and Henry White, formerly ambassador to France on behalf of the United States. They will be attached to Mr. Roosevelt's suite during the funeral ceremonies. Ambassador Reid, members of the embassy and several prominent Americans met Mr. Roosevelt at the Victoria station.

The morning papers give much space to the special envoy of America to King Edward's funeral. Special articles deal with Mr. Roosevelt's career in the United States and regret that his coming is overshadowed by the British national sorrow, and that he comes as chief mourner of the United States instead of an interesting private guest, who could have been sure of an enthusiastic welcome.

The Colonel Leaves Berlin.

Berlin, May 16.—Mr. Roosevelt started for London at 11:50 Sunday morning. There were no popular demonstrations, but he received hearty cheers from a crowd of Americans on the station platform. In bidding farewell to Herr Von Schoen Mr. Roosevelt said: "It was all fine. I enjoyed every minute."

A Mysterious Disappearance.

Detroit, May 16.—Charles A. Roberts, aged twenty-five, son of a wealthy Boston business man, mysteriously disappeared in Detroit two months ago and all efforts of his people to find him have failed. An uncle, John Eaton, an attorney of that city, has arrived in Detroit and has enlisted the aid of the police in the search.

There Was No Opposition.

North Vernon, Ind., May 16.—Representative Lincoln Dixon was renominated by the Democrats. As there was no opposition to Mr. Dixon the chairman of the Democratic county committee for each county in the district met and declared him the nominee.

DUNKARDS HOLD GREAT MEETING

Five Thousand Gathered Near North Manchester.

THE ORDER'S ANNUAL MEETING

This is the Third Time the Annual Conference of German Baptists or Dunkards Has Been Held at the Present Meeting Point—Services That Will Be Held During the Week Have Attracted Thousands.

North Manchester, Ind., May 16.—Approximately 5,000 members of the old order of German Baptists or Dunkards took part in the communion services which were held last evening in the large dining tent erected adjacent to the German Baptist church near here, where the annual meeting of the order for the United States and Canada is being held. Delegates and members have been arriving from all over the country. That the church has become progressive was proved by many members making the long trip from Virginia and North Carolina by automobile.

There is no set program. Services for worship were held yesterday. The communion was held in the big dining tent and all but members were excluded. A part of this service includes the feet washing. It was announced that the time used by the big meeting will be fifteen minutes faster than standard time, being sun time. The men and women sit separately at dining tables and at worship. Today the committee of twelve, which is the court of highest resort, will be elected. The conference proper will be held tomorrow. The services last all week. There are but 170 delegates, but more than 5,000 are here. The annual meeting has been held in this place twice previously, once twenty years ago and once ten years ago.

CARS START AGAIN

Vincennes Street Railway Strike Adjusted by Compromise.

Vincennes, Ind., May 16.—The street cars are again in operation after a complete shutdown since May 8. The company does not recognize the union and signs no contract, but grants an increase of 1 cent an hour. The men asked for a 3-cent increase and nine-hour day, but the twelve-hour day will be continued. A gang of pick and shovel men preceded the cars to clear the tracks, which were completely hidden under mud and earth. The settlement came as a surprise, the resumption of traffic attracting more attention than when attempts to run the cars with strike breakers were made two weeks ago.

Guards Ordered to Trouble Zone.

Danville, Ill., May 16.—On representations made by Hartshorn Bros., owners of the Electric mines near Hillery, and John H. Walker, president of the state mine workers' organization, Company 1 of Danville was ordered to that mine. The appearance of strange Italians and threats made to burn the works caused the move.

They Made No Defense.

Pittsburg, May 16.—Ten men, including in their number bankers, physicians and politicians, faced Judge Fraser and, making no defense of the charges of bribery and conspiracy against them, were fined in various amounts from $500 to $5,000, and given jail sentences of from four to eight months.

Held as a Deserter.

Jeffersonville, Ind., May 16.—Clarence Wallace, who said that he joined the navy to get rid of his wife, and then deserted for the same reason, was arrested here and is held in the local jail awaiting instructions from the naval authorities.

Will Lose a Hand.

Columbus, Ind., May 16.—Henry Smith, a farmer living near here, will lose one of his hands as the result of a bandage soaked in turpentine catching fire.

SENATOR OWEN

His Bill For a New Cabinet
Officer Being Resisted.

A MEDICAL MONOPOLY SAID TO BE THE NEXT

At Least This Is The Fear of These Doctors.

New York, May 16.—A new organization has come to town prepared to kick and kick hard, its kicks being directed against the American Medical association, which it charges with a wish, a desire and aim to medical monopoly in these United States to the prejudice of all persons who wish to practice in or to employ another school of healing. The new organization is named the National League for Medical Freedom and it has opened offices in the Metropolitan building.

It is the intention to incorporate the league and forthwith to begin a campaign of education by advertisement to induce people to resist the efforts of the A. M. A. to force through at Washington at this session of congress a bill establishing a national health bureau. The league is to begin its active campaign next Thursday by sending a committee to Washington to attend hearing that is to be given then on Senator Owen's bill establishing a national health department with its head in the cabinet. Senator Owen's bill, however, the leaguers say, is only one of five similar bills now pending, any one of which would place the A. M. A. in power and in position to exercise a medical monopoly in the country.

The president of the league, B. O. Flower of Boston, who founded the Arena magazine and is now editor of the Twentieth Century magazine, says that the new organization is well equipped with funds to carry on the work, and it has the support of every independent medical school in the country as well as of a number of insurgent members of the A. M. A. There will be 200,000 or 300,000 members in the league before long, he says.

A DESPERATE DRIVE

President of Great Northern in Thrilling Race Against Death.

Lakeview, Ore., May 16.—Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway company, won an eighty-mile race against death over the sands of the great eastern Oregon desert, carrying in his automobile a woman who had been bitten by a rattlesnake.

The physicians report that the woman probably will recover. She is Mrs. George Gibbs, a farmer's wife. Mrs. Gibbs encountered the snake in her dooryard. Soon after the Hill party of twenty autos came on the scene, and being asked by the woman's husband to lend a helping hand, Mr. Hill consented to drive his fastest car with the woman as his only passenger. A telephone call started a doctor to meet the party at Plush, on Warner lake.

Lioness Swiped Trainer.

New York, May 16.—Duchess, a lioness whose temper has not yet become dulled with much exhibiting, felled Peter Taylor, her trainer, during one of the performances before a large Sunday afternoon crowd at Bostock's animal show in Dreamland, Coney Island, and had her muzzle groping for his throat when emergency men with steel spears prodded her away and saved the trainer. Taylor had his left arm ripped open from elbow to wrist by the one vicious swipe he received from the lioness.

It Was a Mistrial.

Jeffersonville, Ind., May 16.—The jury which tried the case of Walter Gwin, charged with a criminal assault on Miss Mary Lesch, failed to agree and was discharged. Both Gwin and Miss Lesch are members of well-known families of Sellersburg, and the trial attracted much attention.

Kentucky Banker Sentenced.

Henderson, Ky., May 16.—A jury returned a verdict sentencing T. S. Anderson, former president of the defunct Daviess County Bank and Trust company of Owensboro, to eighteen months in the penitentiary on the charge of swearing falsely to a statement of the bank.

Three Indictments Returned.

Corydon, Ind., May 16.—The grand jury has returned bills against certain persons for complicity in the recent plot to release Thomas J. Hoal, the "boy bandit," from jail, and for obvious reasons the officials refuse to reveal the names of those indicted.

Reading and answering the ads. is the finest practical training in business that you could secure.

To decide, usually at a first reading, whether an ad. has "something in it for YOU," requires trained and well-poised business judgment—judgment based on personal experience in answering ads., and the wide knowledge of the city, its people, the right prices of things which such experience alone gives you WANTED—A RIDER AGENT IN EACH TOWN and district to ride and exhibit sample latest model "Ranger" bicycle furnished by us. Our agents everywhere are making money fast. Write for full particulars and special offer at once.

NO MONEY REQUIRED until you receive and approve of your bicycle. We ship to anyone, anywhere in the U. S., without a cent deposit in advance, freight, and put it to any test you wish. If you are then not perfectly satisfied or do not wish to keep the bicycle ship it back to us at our expense and you will not be out one cent.

FACTORY PRICES We furnish the highest grade bicycles it is possible to make at low prices we can make you this year. We sell the highest grade bicycles for less money than any other factory. We are satisfied with $1.00 profit above factory cost.

BICYCLE DEALERS, you can sell our bicycles under your own name plate at double the price. Orders filled at once.

SECOND HAND BICYCLES. We do not regularly handle second hand bicycles, but usually have a number on hand taken in trade by our Chicago retail stores. These we clear out promptly at prices ranging from $3 to $8 or $10. Descriptive bargain lists mailed free.

COASTER-BRAKES, single wheels, imported roller chains and pedals, parts, repairs and equipment of all kinds at half the usual retail prices.

$3.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF $4.80
SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES
NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes, 28 to 36, and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of thin, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. You run no risk in sending us an order as the tires may be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We will receive and return them at once. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be so well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

Don't buy any kind of a tire until you send for a pair of the special introductory prices quoted above, or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices.

DO NOT WAIT but write us a postal today. DO NOT THINK OF BUYING a bicycle or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

Governor Thomas Marshall Issues
Annual Decree to People of Indiana.

WHO WILL OBSERVE CUSTOM

Day Will be Remembered Here With Appropriate Exercises in Charge of G. A. R.

Governor Marshall has issued the following Memorial day proclamation:

"Death is the arch gleaner in the field of time. Each day is harvest day and each soul is ripened grain. Windrow after windrow, he mows down the human race. He spares not young man nor maiden nor him who stoops with age. Each going down leaves a void unfilled in some human breast; but the patriot's death sobers and fills with sorrow the nation's heart. If the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church, then the life and death of the soldier who offered his life as a willing sacrifice for the preservation of the union, must remain the most fruitful germ in the formation of American character.

"It is well for a people to live in the present and plan for the future, but it is ill for a people to forget the past. Thus far, in our history, we have not ceased to remember the toil, devotion and sacrifice of the living and the dead, who from '61 to '65 counted all else naught if thereby they might preserve the union of the States. Year by year, with the beauty of the lily and the fragrance of the rose, we seek to voice above their graves the gratitude of the American to the hero of that age. Only a few now stand near the portals of that door which never outward swings. This year as they bedew with tears the graves of their long-gone companions in arms let the people of Indiana reverentially lay aside their usual avocations and join in this solemn service. Let them make the day one of solemn consecration to the rights of men and of saddened reverence for that shedding of blood without which thus far, in the world's history, there has been no remission of sin.

"In the hope that such will be the character of that day, I, Thomas R. Marshall, Governor of the State of Indiana, do hereby designate and set apart Monday, May 30th, 1910, as Memorial day, and do proclaim the same to be a legal holiday throughout the State. May all that is said that day come from the lips afire with patriotism and from hearts aglow with love for the hero dead and the hero living.

"Done at the Capitol in Indianapolis and given under my hand and the great seal of the State of Indiana this 11th day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and ten, and in the year of the independence of the United States one hundred and thirty-fourth.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS.

The Rev. Joshua Stansfield, pastor of the Meridian Street Methodist church, Indianapolis, will address the graduating class of the Knights-town high school at the commencement exercises to be held at the Alhambra opera house, May 19, at 8 o'clock p. m. There are nineteen graduates in the class—six boys and thirteen girls.

IT'S SO "DRY."

(Connersville News.)

A local citizen tells the following on Leopold Stokovski, the great director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra here for the May Festival. He was discussing, in complimentary terms, his impression of Connersville and her people, closing, as near as the informant could remember, with these words:

"I like your town; I like your fair women; I like your appreciation of true music—but, O, Gott! how dry!"

GORMON GETS REWARD

Richmond Policeman Given $500 For Apprehending Allison Murderer.

The county commissioners Saturday afternoon awarded the $500 reward offered for information leading to the arrest of the murderer of Mrs. Frank Allison to Superintendent Gormon of the police, says the Richmond Item. The money goes into the city treasury under the law. Will Gipe and Walter Lovin also claimed the money, but Mr. Gormon secured the confession of Charles Revale, the murderer.

STRAW HAT SEASON IS ON IN EARNEST

Fashion Permits the Wearing of One Without Being "Kidded" by the Public.

"LID" IS HERALD OF SUMMER

Take a peep at the calendar, dust off your straw hat and if the weather permits, you may venture out on the streets adorned in this style of headpiece without fear of ridicule, for the little god of fashion decrees that the summer lid is now in order. Straw hats have been on display in the toggery shops for some time and have found a ready sale. The warm, balmy weather of the past few days has brought out the summer headgear in large numbers and its appearance on the street was not at all unusual. But now it is quite proper and strictly according to the rules of etiquette to decorate your head with this style of hat if you desire, so let your friends shout that you're rushing the season till they're hoarse, for that's all they know about it. May the first is a welcome sound and brings one to realize that the dear old summer time is not very far distant.

HOMER PEA PLAYS CREDITABLE GAME

Gets Two Hits and Accepts Four Chances Playing Third Base
For Knightstown.

DEFEAT CONNERSVILLE GRAYS

The Knightstown baseball team defeated the Connersville Grays at Knightstown Sunday by the score of 4 to 2. Homer Pea of this city, who has gained considerable prominence as a ball player, held down the third bag for Knightstown and played a very creditable game. He got two hits out of four times at bat, one being a two-base hit and the other a single. He accepted four chances without an error.

DEATH CAME EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

Mrs. Josephine Casady Expired at Her Home North of the City
After Long Illness.

FOUR CHILDREN SURVIVE HER

Mrs. Josephine Casady, about 50 years old, died at her home north of the city yesterday morning about eight o'clock. Her death was due to Bright's disease. She has been in very poor health for several months and her death did not come unexpected. She is survived by four children, Mrs. Hal Green and Mrs. Sam Beaver and Don and Eugene Casady. The funeral services will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock. Burial will be made in East Hill cemetery.

WAS MORE SCARE THAN DAMAGE

Reports From Fruit Cultivators in Northern Indiana Say Cold Wave
Was Not Damaging.

GOOD CROP CAN BE EXPECTED

Damp Cold Weather Following Storm
Responsible For Saving Portion of Fruit.

The latest reports from the fruit cultivators of northern Indiana and the Michigan fruit belt confirm the earlier statements made by correspondents of the News that the recent cold wave caused more scare than damage and that in all varieties a good crop of fruits may be expected, says the South Bend News.

At the time the News sent out its inquiries, by telephone, telegraph and mail, care was taken to address them to people who were in position to give reliable information and who would take the trouble to base their reports on actual investigation.

Nothing has occurred in the northern part of Indiana to reverse any of the statements made by this paper. It is the testimony of all after further examination of the buds that their first statements were correct and that there are excellent prospects for a good fruit crop in this section. As to the Michigan fruit belt later statements are somewhat conflicting as to details, but all are quite optimistic as to the general results. B. E. Bassett, secretary of the Michigan Horticultural Society, in a signed statement, says that in his opinion the damp cool weather following the storm has been responsible for saving a portion of the apple and peach crop from ruin. He has been over a large territory visiting the orchards and notes that the frost is coming out of the apple and peach blossoms in good shape and that there is every indication that the fruit buds have many of them stood the frost and were far enough advanced to be safe. He is a little more in doubt about the cherry, pear and plum blossoms, but Theodore Dahlman has presented indisputable evidence that the pears are in good condition. He is, however, in doubt about the cherries and peaches. This shows that the opinions of the experts differ, but all unite in predicting a good crop of those fruits not injured and correspondingly high prices.

The cultivation of fruit in this section of Indiana is experiencing a revival. Much more attention is being paid to it than formerly and no small part of the credit for this is due to the influence of the St. Joseph Horticultural Society, which has displayed much energy and intelligence in promoting fruit culture. The recent severe tests which the fruit buds have passed through will form an interesting and profitable subject for discussion by the members of the society.

Impurity In Seeds

Dodder as an Impurity in Seeds—So injurious is dodder to clovers and alfalfa that the presence of dodder in these crops or in the seed of them, even in small quantities, should be a matter of much concern. That it occurs in seed sold in Indiana is certain.

Of the Red Clover seed examined to date in the seed laboratory of this Station, 5.6 per cent of the samples contained dodder, of the Alfalfa, 61.5 per cent. contained dodder. It is not usual to find dodder in American grown White Clover or Alsike Clover. None was found in the samples analyzed here. As might be expected from the results of analysis made, dodder is positively known to exist as a pest in a number of Indiana clover and alfalfa fields. The character of dodder seed in such, that where the pest exists in the fields and is allowed to mature, the seed of it is sure to be in the clover seed crop, if the clover should be so fortunate as to survive the effect of the dodder living upon it. The existence of dodder in clover and alfalfa seed and of the dodder plants in the fields, will prove, if unchecked, a gradually increasing menace to clover and alfalfa growing in the State. Farmers will have themselves to blame to a considerable extent if dodder becomes a crop reducing pest like buckhorn and wild onion now are.

Development of Dodder from Seed to Seed—Dodder seed matures about the same time as clover seed. Much of it reaches the ground. The seed germinates at first getting nourishment from a supply stored up in the seed. A slender, delicate shoot appears. This little stem sways about looking for a support, or a host as it is often called, for its habit is to twine and climb about other plants, especially clover or alfalfa. When it reaches a clover or alfalfa plant it sends out little suckers which enter the host wherever the dodder touches stem or branches, and extracts therefrom ready-made food materials. Here is where the damage from dodder comes in. The dodder once attached to a suitable host, branches extensively, thus sending suckers in large numbers into the juice-conveying tissues of the clover or alfalfa. As soon as the food stored in the seed is exhausted, the dodder plant becomes a complete parasite, living wholly on the host plant. It dies at the ground, thus cutting off all connection with the latter. The trouble begins in circular "spots" which gradually spread out. Examine a "spot" and there will be seen in, around and among the clover or alfalfa a much branched, tangled mass of lemon yellow, orange, or pink threads attached to the clover at many points by suckers, much as ivy is attached to a wall, only the suckers of dodder not only cling, but extract the juices and hence the vitality from the clover or alfalfa. Dodder is wholly destitute of leaves and is incapable of manufacturing food for itself. Hence it is a plant parasite. The flowers are usually many, and crowded in dense bunches. As a rule dodders are heavy seed producers. As the season advances these "spots" extend and the clover and alfalfa die little by little. Kinds of dodder and methods of eradication will be discussed in a future bulletin.

BARNARD FAVORS CUT IN MILEAGE

In an Interview Sixth District Congressman Says he is Against 20 Cent Plan.

BACK TO STAGE COACH DAYS

Would Reduce it to Actual Expenses —Bills to Reapeal Law Are Introduced.

Representative W. O. Barnard, of New Castle, has placed himself on record as opposed to the time-honored mileage plan which allows senators and representatives 20 cents a mile to cover their traveling expenses in going to Washington and returning home. Mr. Barnard in a recent interview on the question said:

"If an opportunity offers I will offer an amendment to substitute actual traveling expenses for any arbitrary rate that may be fixed. The present rate is outrageously high. It costs an Indiana congressman, for example, less than $45, all told, to come to Washington and return home, but the law allows him about $280."

The mileage graft dates back to the days of stage coaches, when traveling was much more expensive than it is now. It amounts in some cases to large sums. A Pacific coast member, for example, receives about $600 mileage allowance annually.

The Indiana congressmen are united in favor of the abolishment of the mileage graft, and two of them, Representatives Cox and Adair, have each introduced bills. They are the only bills pending before congress to repeal the mileage "graft" and, therefore, it may be called distinctly an Indiana movement. Indiana has long been trying to "butt into" this field of reform.

PATRONIZE THE HOME PHYSICIAN

Rushville Has as Many Good Doctors
as Any City, Who Have Demonstrated Their Skill.

THEY SHOULD HAVE A CHANCE

A phase of spending money out-of-town which deserves attention as well as the mail order business, is the spending of money for professional services with out-of-town doctors, etc. The mail order articles which have been run by the Daily Republican have attracted the attention of the professional men of the city, and they complain that it is no more than right in a wholly home trade city, that the professional services be done by local physicians. Several doctors have complained that "every time a man gets a pain that amounts to anything, he goes to a city to secure treatment." This is true, to a great extent, for many local people in the past gone out of town for medical service, without giving the local men sufficient trial. Undoubtedly there are as proficient men in professional lines in this city as anywhere in the country, and when given a chance to show their skill, demonstrate the fact.

Many local people feel that they cannot receive the right attention or be sure of accurate operations unless they secure the services of a city physician or surgeon. Rushville has some of the best educated men along surgical lines of any town in the country, and those in need of such treatment can be absolutely sure that if the local men feel that they cannot handle their cases, they will be able to secure the services of the best in the professional-for the patients.

Mrs. Frank Brown, 48 Years Old,
Succumbs to Tumor After Several Months Struggle.

FUNERAL TO BE WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Frank Brown, 48 years old, died at her home in West First street Sunday evening about seven o'clock after a long illness. A postmortem was held over the body this morning and it was found that a fibroid tumor had been the cause of her death. She had been lingering between life and death for several days. Mrs. Brown had been critically ill for several weeks.

She is survived by her husband, mother, two sisters, Miss Lillie Purcell and Mrs. Fred Gale, and one brother, Mark Purcell. The funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at nine o'clock at the Catholic church, conducted by the Rev. W. J. Cronin. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery.

WERE DRIVING THE HORSE TO DEATH

John Hiner Received Word From Laurel That Young Men Were Mistreating His Animal.

LATER FOUND HERE IN CITY

John Hiner, the liveryman, received word yesterday afternoon from Laurel that two young men living here, were driving one of his horses to death. He asked the men who telephoned him to take the horse from them and hold it until he could arrive. The men refused to do that unless they were given authority to act. Sheriff Bebout was notified and telephoned to the parties at Laurel, giving them power to take the outfit from the young men. Mr. Hiner was preparing to go to Laurel when he found the youngsters here in the city and took the horse and buggy away from them. The horse had been driven hard, but was not injured to any great extent. He says that they were intoxicated and are both minors.
